Indians Sold At $2,200,000; Veeck Is Sued

Ellis Ryan Heads Purchasers; Former Stockholder Irked

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21—(AP)—Dynamic Bill Veeck sold the Cleveland Indians to a group of local business men today for a reported $2,200,000.

The Tribe president announced the action at a news conference in his stadium offices.

Ellis Ryan, insurance executive, is head of the new group that purchased the American league baseball club and its holdings. More than 150 persons were crowded into the Tribe's small quarters for the signing.

"It's the biggest crowd since the signing of Bob Feller," one observer remarked.

The reported purchase price contrasted with the estimated figure of $1,250,000 Veeck and others paid for the Tribe, its 13 farm clubs and old League park on June 22, 1946.

Ryan said the figure was approximately correct.

Asked whether Hank Greenberg, who had been vice president of the baseball organization in the Veeck regime, would become general manager, Ryan replied "we haven't talked to anyone yet."

Veeck said he had no plans for the present.

Shortly before the transaction was completed, a stockholder in the Cleveland Baseball Co., which Veeck headed, sued Veeck for $1,200,000 damages, in behalf of all the stockholders.

J. H. Harris a former county commissioner, filed the suit in common pleas court asking the damages from Veeck, and an accounting of the company's funds.

The petition claims Veeck bought stock for himself in the Oklahoma City, Dayton, O., and Zanesville, O., clubs on $175,000 he borrowed without authority from the company. It also claimed he borrowed $250,000 from the company about Nov. 1 without proper corporate authority.

Veeck said he had no comment on the suit.

Poses As Unmarried, Tangles With Law

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 21—A Dayton musician fell victim yesterday to a little-used section of the Ohio general code—accusing him of posing as an unmarried man when he wasn't.

Police picked up the musician, who gave his name as James M. Brown, 26, at a downtown night club early yesterday.

Brown was turned over to a constable from Harrison township, Montgomery county.

The warrant for his arrest was sworn to by Frances Alene Wagner of near Dayton, before Justice of the Peace B. E. Stickney of Harrison township.

Specifically, it charges that around last June 1, Brown falsely represented himself as an unmarried man and "did make proposals of marriage," and that he "did repeatedly keep company" with her.

28 Refugee Children In Norway Plane Crash

Explosion Near Oslo Sets Hundreds On Search In Forest

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 21—(AP)—A plane carrying 28 undernourished Jewish refugee children from North Africa was missing today, believed crashed somewhere in tangled forest country near Oslo.

The plane with 35 aboard—28 children, three nurses and four crewmen—sent its last radio message about 6 p. m. last night as it neared Oslo's Fornebu airport. Soon afterwards a sharp flash of light, followed by an explosion was seen near Gjerdsjoen Lake a mile southeast of Oslo.

Hundreds of searchers struggled through the trees and swamps in the lake region during the night and this morning searching for a trace of the missing craft.

The 28 children were in a group of 55 from Tunis being flown to Norway for six months of rest and rehabilitation before traveling to Israel. Most were between six and 12 years of age.

Another plane with 27 children arrived safely earlier in the afternoon from Tunis. The missing plane, a twin-engined DEC-3 transport, was operated by a Dutch company, Aero Holland.

Visibility was obscured by clouds as the incoming plane reported it was over Oslo Fjord only a mile or two from the capital.

Aero Holland, owners of the plane, announced at The Hague, Netherlands, that the plane was considered lost.

Highways Slippery After Light Snow

Salem awoke this morning to freezing temperatures, glazed streets and highways. A light snow fell through the night and covered the landscape of northern Ohio.

Early morning drivers exercised winter caution, keeping cars in control at 25-35 mile speeds. All roads were skiddy and the going up and down hills particularly bad.

Pedestrians found it overshoes weather and treacherous under foot.

The temperature at 6 this morning was 27, the low. By noontime today the mercury had climbed three degrees.

The weatherman's prediction for tonight was cold and windy, with snow. It will be continued cold Tuesday, he added.

5 Motorists Pay Fines In Court

Five area arrests were reported by state patrolmen for the weekend.

Ronald Weida, 25, of Rockford, Ill., was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace H. A. Walker of Canfield for passing on a curve.

Robert Wilkinson, 25, of Chicago was fined $10 and costs by Justice Walker for passing at an intersection. Edward Hile, 42, of Pittsburgh was fined $10 and costs by Mayor R. R. Johnson on a charge of reckless driving. Acting Mayor R. J. Barrow of Columbiana found Frank Slunje, 52, Detroit, guilty of passing on crest of a hill Saturday and fined him $15 and costs.

Carl Marietta, 22, of Kensington was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Kenneth Hiseox of Lisbon on a reckless driving count.

Panama Changes Presidents In Quiet Revolt

Police Chief Unseats Chanis; No Violence In Midnight Coupe

PANAMA, Panama, Nov. 21—(AP)—This little Central American country, site of the Panama Canal, changed presidents over the weekend in a bloodless nighttime revolt stage by police force leaders.

President Daniel Chanis, surgeon-politician who has been president less than four months, resigned after helmeted police surrounded his palace. Vice President Roberto F. Chiari, 44, was sworn in as president at 6 a. m. Sunday.

Emerging as the new "strong man" of Panama's turbulent politics was police chief Col. Jose Remon, 41.

Chanis was swept out of office because he tried to fire Remon and two of his top aides in the 2,000-man police department that is Panama's only armed force. Chanis said he demanded the resignation of the three police leaders because they held interests in two monopolies outlawed by the supreme court—beef slaughtering houses and commercial bus companies.

Instead of resigning, Remon ordered out his police and isolated the presidential palace. Radio broadcasting was suspended, newspapers were ordered to withhold their Sunday editions and telephone service was stopped.

This happened Saturday night. By 4:30 a. m. Sunday—before most of Panama's 700,000 inhabitants knew what was happening—Chanis had bowed to the police chief's ultimatum and resigned to avert threatened bloodshed.

Both Chanis and his successor, Chiari, are members of the liberal party. Chanis was elected vice president in 1948 and took over as president July 28 when President Domingo Diaz Arosemena became too ill to serve.

Dim View Taken On Coffee Problem

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(UP)—The Commerce department took a dim view today of prospects for early relief in the coffee shortage that has shot U. S. prices to record highs.

It said in a special survey that the outlook is "not bright" for any sizeable increase in production in the near future.

The department traced the shortage to a steady, 10-year drop in Brazil's production and to the increasing number of coffee drinkers.

It estimated that Brazil, world's largest producer, will have only 14,400,000 bags of 132 pounds each for export this year, compared with the 1930-40 average of 22,500,000 pounds.

The department said rising U. S. prices, which some quarters believe will reach $1 a pound at retail, may encourage Brazilian growers to plant more trees, which take seven years to produce.

The department found some bright spots.

It said the two-month drought in Brazil has ended and next year's crop should be about as large as this year's. Flood damage in Guatemala has been less than expected and Colombia, the second largest producer, has stepped up its production, it said.

Tickets For Police Ball Still On Sale

Tickets for the 13th annual Salem police benefit ball, to be held at the V. F. W. at 9 Wednesday evening, are still on sale with department members.

Music for dancing and floor show will be furnished by Bill Richards' orchestra.

Proceeds from the dance will be used by the police uniform fund.

Pastor Hurt As Car Leaves Road

Rev. Ogden One Of Two Hurt In Traffic

Rev. Harold L. Ogden, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, suffered minor lacerations of the mouth when his car left the road at 6 a. m. Sunday on Route 62, two miles west of Alliance. He later had to have a front tooth extracted.

Rev. Ogden had gone to Columbus Friday and traveled to the Ohio State-Michigan football game Saturday on a special train. He was returning to Salem in his own car when the accident happened.

He said the driver of an approaching car suddenly switched on his bright lights. Blinded momentarily, Rev. Ogden lost sight of the centerline and his car left the road and hit a tree.

A Canton Repository delivery man stopped and took the minister to the Alliance City hospital where he was treated for minor injuries and released. Rev. Ogden's mouth was lacerated when he struck the steering wheel.

Seven Autos Damaged

Five traffic accidents on city streets over the weekend resulted in damage to seven motor vehicles and injury to one person, police reported.

A car driven by Edward M. Westphal of 751 Morris ave., collided with the rear of another operated by Charles D. Wernet of 1007 1/2 E. Fourth st., at the corner of W. State and Sharp at 6:40 a. m. today.

Wernet was stopped, waiting to make a left turn onto Sharp. The trunk of his car was caved in, the rear bumper bent, and a tail light broken. The grille was caved in, the left front fender and headlight smashed and the radiator damaged on Westphal's auto.

Emil Tesman, a passenger in Wernet's car, suffered a neck injury.

Parked Car Hit

A car owned by Kalousea Yallian of 280 S. Howard ave., parked on S. Howard at 12:35 p. m. Saturday, was sideswiped by a car driven by Rudolph Delfavero of 471 Mill st.

R. R. Gate Damaged

The west gate on the W. State st., railroad crossing was torn off at 12:30 p. m. Saturday when it was lowered on a truck-trailer driven by Anthony Balchaitis of Philadelphia.

The truck was proceeding over the crossing after the gate was raised. It was lowered quickly, however, and landed on the trailer.

Auto, Truck Collide

Gus H. Bauman of 1654 E. State st., told police he drove his car into the rear of a truck operated by John R. Williams of Prospect st., extension at 5:35 p. m. Saturday on N. Lincoln ave.

The truck was halted at the side of the street. The front of Bauman's car was damaged.

Intersection Crash

Another accident at the corner of N. Lincoln and Third at 12:30 p. m. Saturday involved cars driven by John Todd of 650 Washington ave., and Frederick Sipe of 664 E. Sixth st.

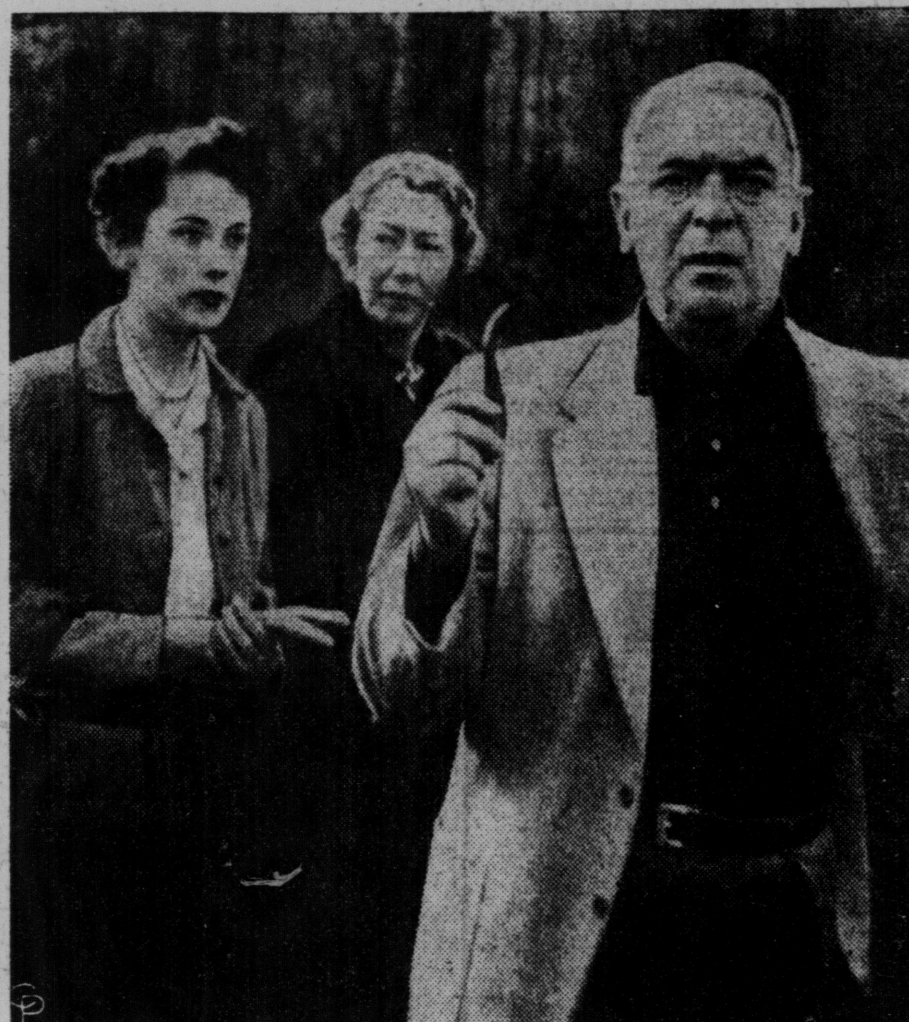

Both drivers claimed to have had the green light at the intersection. They collided and Sipe's car was driven over the curb and onto a lawn. The left side of his auto was damaged and the front of Todd's was smashed.

Fireworks Due On Miner Fund

Bridges, Quitting, Seeks An Accounting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP)—The quarrel between John L. Lewis and Senator Bridges over spending the coal miners' welfare fund promised today to enliven a meeting of the three-man board of trustees which controls the money.

Lewis represents the United Mine Workers on the board and is chairman. Senator Bridges has been the neutral trustee since he was named during the pension strike of 1948.

The soft coal operators are changing trustees, replacing Ezra Van Horn with former Judge Charles I. Dawson of Louisville, Ky. Van Horn has resigned and said he would not attend today's session. It was Dawson's first meeting with Lewis and Bridges.

Bridges intends to press the fight against using funds collected since the miners' contract expired June 30, and to cut out all payments from money remaining in the treasury from collections before that. The fund is financed by a 20 cent royalty on each ton of coal produced.

The miners have been working this summer and fall without a contract. About $13,000,000 was collected since June 30 and Bridges, fearing his responsibility as a trustee in the absence of a contract, voted against using that money.

Lewis has argued that the benefits should be kept up, even if it means spending the summer collections.

The senator has asked for a court accounting in order to quit as a trustee. Bridges in the past 18 months has voted with Lewis in most things. He sided with the UMW chief in deciding to cut off all but emergency payments Sept. 16. It was three days later that 480,000 miners walked out.

The bituminous coal miners east of the Mississippi were idle for 52 days, until Lewis called a truce Nov. 9. That truce expires Nov. 30.

Missing Harvard Man Found In Charred Plane

GOSHEN, N. H., Nov. 21—(UP)—The body of a missing Harvard freshman was found today in the burned wreckage of his plane high on the west side of Bald mountain.

John M. Moses, 18, son of a Baltimore attorney, was killed last night when his plane crashed into the fog-shrouded 2,900-foot peak, middle mountain of the Sunapee range.

A ground party reached the scene some 300 feet below the summit after the wreckage had been spotted from the air.

Girl Scouts Plan Village Fair

Camp Benefit Show Planned Dec. 2, 3

Salem Girl Scouts will take over the Memorial building recreational center Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening, Dec. 2 and 3, for a village fair, the biggest benefit ever attempted by the local movement, which has more than 400 girls enrolled, divided into 24 groups.

Mrs. F. S. Barckhoff, Jr., is general chairman.

Proceeds of the fair will go to the maintenance and improvements of Camp Merrydale, Girl Scout reservation, northwest of the city, on the Seacrest rd. This will be the only money making project of the year, according to officials.

Fair board includes the following chairmen:

Miss Elizabeth Ward, publicity; Mrs. P. E. Harrington, equipment; Mrs. Robert Eddy, decorations; Mrs. J. B. Votaw, tickets; Mrs. Donald Mathews, bake shop; Mrs. Louis Weirick, ye floral shop; Mrs. Niles Pettay, Jr., shoppe of crafts, Mrs. George Boeckling, doll house; Mrs. Robert Watterson and Mrs. Laura Noll, Coney Island red hots; Mrs. Ann Cosma, concessions; Mrs. R. T. Holzbach, fish pond; Mrs. Edwin Probert, village postoffice; Mrs. Rudolph Bodendorfer and Mrs. Rudolph Schuster, menagerie; Mrs. D. W. Lewis and Mrs. C. F. Cobourn, museum arcade; Mrs. William Blount and Mrs. J. D. Fisher, "house of horrors"; Mrs. Glen Whinnery and Mrs. Francis Waiwaiole, main side show.

Booths will feature leather belts, story book dolls, aprons, pot holders, Christmas favors, Christmas tree ornaments and many other articles. The parcel post booth promises to be popular.

Show hours are 7:30 and 9 p. m. on both evenings. There will be a minstrel by one troop and a marionette show by another.

Donations for the Saturday food shop will be brought to the Memorial building at 9:30 a. m.

Expect Trumbull GOP Chairman To Resign

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21—Trumbull county Republican leaders today expect William A. Klatt of Niles to resign as chairman of the county Republican central committee.

Committee representatives demanded his resignation in Warren last Saturday, at which time Klatt said he would give them his answer today.

If the former national commander of the Army and Navy Union does not resign, one high-ranking leader of the committee said, he will be ousted Friday night at a meeting of the 166-man committee in GOP headquarters in Warren.

Concern Shown Over Labor's Pension Plans

Government Experts Feel It May Halt Overall Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(UP)—Some government officials are frankly worried about labor's demands for bigger and better company-paid pensions.

They see in industrial pension programs a threat to the government's own social security concept. They point to these two reasons for their worry:

1. Industrial pensions increase the retirement benefits of some of the 35,000,000 persons now covered by federal social security. But they do nothing for the millions of farm workers, domestic servants and other wage workers who do not have social security coverage or any other old age security plan.

False Security
2. Industrial pensions may offer a false sense of old-age security to workers in some companies. A sound pension plan with a large reputable company is something quite different, they say, from a shaky pension plan established by a company with an uncertain future.

At least one high government official has suggested that President Truman appoint a special commission to study the relationship of industrial pension programs to the federal social security program.

For instance, the so-called "Bethlehem plan" which ended the steel strike provides generally for $100-a-month pensions. But the steel companies pay only the difference between social security benefits and the amount guaranteed under the pension contract.

May Retard Growth
The great danger, as this official sees it, is that the heavy pressure for industrial pensions will retard the growth of the social security system and leave millions of workers with no provision at all for their old age.

In labor circles the pressure for pensions in collective bargaining agreements continues. Some labor experts believe it has been strengthened by a presidential fact-finding board which denied the CIO United Steelworkers a fourth-round wage increase but recommended a 10-cent pension and insurance "package" paid by the companies.

Some government economists believe that labor's demands for pension and welfare benefits have become a permanent part of the collective bargaining process. Federal social security, they believe, will remain as a pension "floor" for organized labor—like the minimum wage law which puts a floor under wages.

HIGH COST OF OLEO
COLUMBUS, Nov. 21—The Association of Voters for Yellow Oleomargarine reported to the secretary of state yesterday it had received $98,772 in its campaign to get yellow oleo legalized in Ohio. Expenditures totaled $48,167 and as yet unpaid bills $46,616. The report, filed by Ed D. Schorr, Jr., association treasurer, showed that most of the money came from oleo manufacturers.

GI College Enrollment Shows Decline This Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP)—College enrollments by World War II veterans are tapering off sharply.

The office of education said only 856,000 veterans enrolled for higher education this fall—16 per cent less than the 1,022,000 enrollment of a year ago. The peak of 1,158,000 was reached in December, 1947.

Of the nation's 15,000,000 World War II vets, the Veterans Administration said, about 6,840,000 have taken education or training under the GI bill.

In the field of higher education, only one state, Connecticut, reported increased veteran enrollment this fall. And while almost half the nation's college students in 1947 were war veterans, this year only 35 per cent of them are.

Iron Smelting In Ohio Prior To 1492? Scientists Scoff

COLUMBUS, Nov. 21—(AP)—Does an ancient mound near Chillicothe hold secrets of America's past?

A. H. Mallery, a Washington engineer, believes it does—and, what's more, he is going to try and show the proof.

Mallery is the man who claimed recently he has evidence that iron workers Beat Columbus to America. Then some scientists took a skeptical view of his claims.

Yesterday in Washington he announced he was inviting anthropologists and archaeologists to "go out to Ohio and see some of it." (The evidence.)

Sets Opening Date
Mallery announced that on Nov. 25 he's going to reopen an ancient mound near Chillicothe where he claims he previously discovered an iron-smelting furnace of pre-Columbian vintage.

He said he wanted scientists to see things for themselves. Mallery added he has asked Dr. James Ford of the American Museum of Natural History to relay his invitation to anthropologists and archaeologists scheduled to meet in New York early next week.

When Mallery first made his announcement (several weeks ago) concerning his beliefs, Raymond S. Baby, curator of Ohio State Archeological and Historical museum, scoffed at the claim that iron was smelted in Ohio before Columbus.

He said "we never have found any smelted iron" and added that bits of iron found in the Chillicothe mound was tested three times and found to be meteoric iron.

The curator added: "I don't think Mr. Mallery has anything—he has a preconceived idea not supported by scientific research."

"He uses" undocumented material and has been too impatient to confer with recognized authorities."

Anyway — Mallery seems determined to prove his point, and hopes that when he opens the Chillicothe mound he'll be able to exhibit sufficient evidence to support the claim.

Cartoonists And Writers Share In 'Speaking For Freedom' Awards

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today awarded Freedom's Foundation, Inc., awards to American cartoonists, magazine writers, radio program directors, movie, company and union publications and comment speakers for their contribution in "Speaking for Freedom."

Some 200 individuals and organizations received 1949 awards from the president of Columbia university. The event took place on a huge barn on the colonial farm once occupied by Washington's troops and which now is the national headquarters of Freedom's Foundation. The barn was converted into a theater for the presentation ceremonies.

The foundation is an organization established in March, 1949, for the purpose of making awards and carrying on non-profit activities in the advertising field.

Most Significant
The winners, whose contributions to the American way of life and the principles of freedom on which it stands, were judged most significant in the opinion of a jury of 21 made up of state supreme court justices and officials of American patriotic societies.

Winner included:
Best editorials:
1. Charles Francis Coe, editor and publisher, Palm Beach Post-Times for his editorial, "Be It Known," September 19, 1948.

2. Dr. Ruth Alexander, New York Mirror, for her editorial, "What the States Give Away It Takes Away," January 30, 1949.

Best comic strips:
1. Bradford Smith and Dan Heilman for their strip, "American Adventure."

2. Arnold Gray for "Little Orphan Annie."

Best single cartoon:
1. Edward D. Kuokos of Cleveland Plain Dealer for his cartoon, "The Qualifying Steps," published Sept. 9, 1949.

2. Bruce Russell of the Los Angeles Times for his cartoon, "Valley Forge—1949."

Best college commencement or baccalaureate addresses:
1. Dr. Franklin B. Snyder, president emeritus of Northwestern university for his "Charge of the Graduating Class," June 12, 1949.

2. Jack Foster, editor of the Rocky Mountain News for his address, "Commencement 1891-1949," at the University of Wyoming June 6, 1949.

Best high school commencement or baccalaureate addresses:
1. John Dodson of West View High school, Pittsburgh, Pa., for his 1949 commencement address, "The Lesson Esau."

2. Virginia Johnson, a senior who graduated this year from Hamilton High school, Hamilton, O., for her commencement

Widmyer Honored By Western & Southern

Guests from Salem were among those honoring Harvey R. Widmyer of N. Ellsworth ave. at a recent dinner-dance in the Ohio hotel, Youngstown.

Widmyer

The affair was held in observance of Widmyer's 25 years' service with Western and Southern Life Insurance Co. He was presented with a 25-year certificate and a gold wrist watch by C. M. Williams, company vice president.

A short talk was given by State Representative J. F. Cantwell.

Local guests included Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Holzbach and Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers.

Dying Youngster Happy, Has His Watermelon

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Little Billy Goodwin is happy today—the dying boy has a watermelon he craved.

Billy, 4½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Goodwin, is suffering from a malignant tumor, doctors say.

Billy said several days ago that what he wanted most was to taste a watermelon. Mrs. Bert Cheney read about it in a newspaper. She offered a melon she had stored in the cellar of her farm home near Harmony, O.

Eating the melon won't help or harm Billy, the doctors say. But it will make him happier.

Ohio Teacher Supply Now Adequate, Claim

COLUMBUS, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Ohio now has an adequate supply of qualified school teachers, Dr. Clyde Hissong, state education director, said today.

At the same time, he "recommended and insisted" that boards of education stop certifying undertrained teachers for high school positions.

"We have the best opportunity we have had in the last 10 years to staff our high schools with competent and fully-trained teachers," he said.

The state education director said his office soon will issue rules on certifying teachers. They will specify that only fully-trained high school teachers be hired by boards of education unless the boards can prove there are not enough available.

Last June, 4,096 college graduates were issued high school teaching certificates, and an additional 4,752 will be qualified to teach in high schools next year, he said. Not more than 1,700 positions were expected to be open in high schools in 1950.

Dream Or Nightmare?

Whether one's sympathy is with John L. Lewis, coal mine operators, or the miners, who need it most, one thing about the coal crisis is clear.

The dream of free collective bargaining as a bulwark of the democratic process of government has been turned into an industrial nightmare in the basic coal industry.

There can be no free collective bargaining without good will and good faith. Otherwise, each new contract, as it falls due, will produce a deadlock, bitterness and suffering for all concerned.

Since society cannot be expected to stand by helplessly while its welfare is placed in peril by reckless minorities, the inevitable consequence will be resort to government for public protection. That is a direct denial of the dream of collective bargaining, which aspires to preserve the freedom of individuals and of private enterprise by holding government at arm's length.

The irony of all this is the fact that government intervention is being encouraged for the most part by union leaders and their members, who have the most to lose. There can be no collective bargaining in the real sense of that phrase between unions and agencies of government. And there can be no freedom in a society whose decisions are made for it by a coterie of politicians and their camp-followers. Yet, rather than endure deadlocks which jeopardize public welfare, the people seem to have no choice in a showdown but to break deadlocks with government intervention. Perhaps that is only one of the delusions of the times, however, because of the unnatural power bestowed on the John L. Lewises by a government which was not above trading away public security for minority political support.

Some Facts To Find

It's unlikely that John Lewis would be any gentler with a fact-finding report than Philip Murray, which pretty well rules out a fact-finding board to avert a strike in the coal industry. The operators have learned never to fall for that trick again.

But there are a number of facts to be found, not all of which could be depended on to turn up in an official fact-finding report. Such as the fact that the United Mine Workers won pension concessions a year ago and aren't excited about that issue any more. And the fact that this is a tremendous country—more tremendous than anything which can be done to it by its citizens banded together for collective pressure.

The United States has been learning to accommodate itself to the presence of Mr. Lewis in its basic coal industry. Some 20 years ago he made a disastrous mistake which wrecked United Mine Workers, and that can happen again. If Mr. Lewis hadn't been rescued by the Wagner Labor Relations act, he would have found his natural level in the ranks of labor leaders. There would have been no wholesale packing of unions with professional Communists because the latter promised Mr. Lewis to round up members for the C. I. O. There would have been no government seizure of the strike-bound coal industry during wartime, setting the pattern for state socialism. There would have been no failure of the first industry-wide pension plan, to give that idea a black eye and shatter the hopes of thousands of coal miners. There would have been no unnatural diversion of consumers' demand from coal to other fuels.

No special board is needed these days to find out that Mr. Lewis is getting toward the end of his rope.

Worth Trying Sometime

Five months will have passed without agreement between management and the miners' union in the coal industry, if the newest deadline of Dec. 1 is reached without a contract. There have been numerous meetings, but at no time have spokesmen for the union settled down to terms. In fact, negotiators for mine operators do not even know to this day what the union wants, and they suspect the union itself does not know what it wants; i. e., what John L. Lewis wants.

Yet, this is being called collective bargaining. Like most of the other processes of bludgeoning and high-pressure currently going on under that name, it is being presented to the people as the privilege guaranteed to labor in the United States by the Taft-Hartley act. But it isn't even distantly related to collective bargaining. Quite the contrary, it is a denial of collective bargaining.

Phrases like "collective bargaining" are mouthed over so many times by so many persons who have forgotten what they originally meant that they finally have no meaning at all. Collective bargaining was a noble idea. Many earnest Americans believed in it sincerely. It would have been a great help to the United States. It still would be. This country should try it sometime.

Looking Backward

From The News Files

FORTY YEARS AGO — Salem High school's football eleven, champions of Columbiana county because they defeated Lisbon High last Thanksgiving day, have retained those honors for the season of 1909.

Mrs. Lena Bohner Gamble and baby of Vivian, S. D., will arrive in Salem next week to visit Mrs. Gamble's sister, Mrs. H. G. Camp of Lincoln ave.

Insurgents among the delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention marshaled their forces for the biggest battle of the meeting, mostly over Ohio. The laws committee approved the executive committee's action to revoke the Ohio state federation's charter and urged issuance of a charter to the newly organized Ohio state federation of electrical workers.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—Within a year, residents of leading cities and suburbs may hail an air taxi via radio, puff a cigar in a wind protected cabin and complacently listen to a radio program while the taximeter records but 20 cents a mile.

Rudolph Valentino has returned from a tour of Europe with a true-cut red beard of a sheik of the desert.

Mrs. John Kirchgessner of Garfield ave., was honored with a surprise birthday recently given by her friends.

New shoes have a curious sort of heel, broader than formerly and curving outward on the outside.

TEN YEARS AGO—There's no way of deciding the Big Ten title without considering Ohio State, which had only a light workout in beating Chicago, 61-0. The Bucks next opponent is Illinois, who defeated Wisconsin, 7-0, Saturday.

Nazi Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop informed the Belgian and Netherlands envoys that Germany's reply to the joint mediation offer from the lowlands nations would be a polite "no."

Soviet Russia, hoping the economic strain of counter-modernization still may bring Finland to terms, probably will continue massing troops along the Finnish border, diplomatic observers said today.

Employment in Ohio is at the highest point of the year, the BUC stated.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Rumors are circulating that Hitler is gravely ill, that he is dead, that his abnormal brain has snapped and he is mad but his state of health remains a mystery.

Within three weeks the nation will know whether the Pearl Harbor leaders are to be exonerated or tried by court martial. An investigation of the attack will terminate in December.

Whatever happens in Cleveland when Illinois and Ohio State meet Saturday it won't be one of those "best offense is a good defense" affairs. Both teams will go all out to make touchdowns.

Alaska Calling

By Hal Boyle

LOOKING for a good strong man to build your life around, sister?

Well, if you're a robust, warm-blooded girl, don't overlook Alaska. The odds are in your favor there.

"It's a great place for a girl to find a husband," said Maurice T. Johnson, mayor of Fairbanks, which he says is the third largest city in Alaska and "the largest one farthest North."

It has 12,000 people, counting its farflung suburbs.

"There are about three men to every woman—maybe more—throughout the territory," said Johnson, adding this note of caution:

"But a lot of young girls who came up there and saw our rough-hewn old miners might feel disappointed. They might even want to turn around and come back."

However, though the men are as rugged as the scenery, a girl needn't worry about there being any lack of heat in the long Alaskan winter.

Mayor Johnson and City Clerk E. A. Tonseth came to Manhattan to fix that. They had the chore of signing a $4,500,000 bond issue to build Fairbanks a new municipally owned power plant and water department system.

"It was the first revenue bond issue ever floated in Alaska," said the mayor.

They had expected to have sore arms and spend two days signing the 4,500 bonds—each for $1,000. But it took them only an hour.

"It was amazingly simple," said Johnson. "They have signing machines. 'You press down on one pen and 19 other pens sign, too.'"

The mayor, a lawyer from Woodstock, Ill., who took his family to Alaska during the last depression, believes the territory has a future for young people with courage to face a rugged life.

"It now has a population of only 100,000," he said. "But I don't see why it couldn't support 500,000. That would still be less than one person to a square mile. It's a pretty sizeable chunk of ground up there."

THE CALL OF THE Alaskan wild has tamed down since the day of Jack London and Robert Service.

"We probably use planes more than you do here," said Johnson. "Dog teams, around the cities at least, are just local color now."

The lady that was known as Lou doesn't live there any more. The districts haunted by shady women have been broken up at the request of commanders of Army Airforce bases. Prospectors are more interested in finding oil than gold.

And—shades of the faded past!—the mighty game of poker now is secondary to another pastime, an Arctic bingo called Pagini or "Pan."

"It's a kind of cold weather gin rummy," explained the mayor. "The game is very popular—you can only win or lose a little if you play all night."

Johnson said Times Square failed to come up to the Northern Lights in splendor, and opined the climate here didn't equal that of Alaska.

"In June we play baseball at midnight without artificial lights," he remarked. "It never gets dark in summer."

The mayor, before taking off for Fairbanks, expressed relief he had been able to complete his business in New York before winter trapped him here.

"I understand you had a 25-inch snowfall in one day a couple of years ago," he said. "Why, we never have snow like that up home. Only had 31 inches all told last year. Don't see how you handle it all."

"Is This All You Have?"

What It Means: Battle of the Budget

By Clarke Beach

WASHINGTON The BIG ANNUAL family battle for federal funds is now on at its peak. Lights in Budget Bureau offices burned until 4:30 a. m. one night recently. Many a Budget Bureau official will work late Christmas eve and some even on Christmas day in the last-minute rush to have the President's budget ready by the opening of the next session of Congress.

The Budget Bureau is the first and often the toughest hurdle that government agencies have to clear before they can get money for running expenses next year—the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951. Each agency of the executive branch of the government competes for its share of the taxpayers' dollars. The President makes the final decision on what requests shall be sent to Congress.

An agency's plea for money before the appropriations committees of Congress is frequently an anti-climax. By that time it is committed to whatever the President's budget recommends.

They are engineers, accountants, former state and city fiscal officials, former college professors. Many of them are former employees of the agencies with which they deal. They earn up to $10,330 a year. The general public never hears their names, but many a prominent bureaucrat lives in secret dread of what the examiners will do to him each autumn.

CONGRESS, of course, has the final say on how much each agency shall be given. But it never hears the amounts until the Budget Bureau men have first given the agencies' representatives a thorough working over. It's a painful one, too. In 1948, the Budget Bureau hatchet men cut $11,400,000,000 from the amount the agencies requested. In 1949 they cut $9,100,000,000. In the present fiscal year—1950—they cut $4,300,000,000.

The spadework is done by about 125 Budget Bureau examiners. They are divided into groups, each with its own specialty. Throughout the year they follow the activities of the agencies in which they specialize, watch their management practices and check up generally on how they spend their money.

They are engineers, accountants, former state and city fiscal officials, former college professors. Many of them are former employees of the agencies with which they deal. They earn up to $10,330 a year. The general public never hears their names, but many a prominent bureaucrat lives in secret dread of what the examiners will do to him each autumn.

THE EXAMINERS send their recommendations to the director of the bureau, Frank Pace, Jr., and he or his deputies and assistants hold a long series of review hearings. Pace is keeping in constant touch with President Truman these days, sees him three or four times a week. The budget involves policy matters of the utmost importance to the President.

After the Budget Bureau has finished its work and the President has approved it, the bureau sends to each agency head a memorandum telling him how large an appropriation will be requested for his organization. These are called "allowance letters." Many of them already have been sent out. If the agency head hits the ceiling when he finds out what his allowance is, he can appeal to the bureau director or to the President for more money.

The Budget Bureau constantly is pressured by the lobbies and organized groups, just as Congress is. And some of the government agencies themselves do some high-powered lobbying and pressuring when the matter gets before Congress. But they seldom dare to take issue openly with the President's budget decisions. Once he has submitted his budget to Congress, his official family is all supposed to stand solidly behind him. Melchior's a Man For Meat On The Table

NEW YORK ARE YOU tired of the same old Thanksgiving menu? Are you fed up with turkey and trimmings? Are you bored with mince and pumpkin pies?

If you are, you're nuts. But here goes—

If you crave something entirely different for the coming Thanksgiving feast, try the following recipe:

Take one barrel of buttermilk, one venison and Lauritz Melchior. Stir well. Lock in a kitchen for 24 hours and serve with a good red wine.

I forgot to mention that Mr. Melchior will do the serving. He will also do the cooking. And in his own case, he also bagged the venison.

Mr. Melchior's reputation as an heroic tenor has, unfortunately, served to overshadow his reputation as an heroic hunter, gourmet and cook. But on Thursday Mr. Melchior will sit down to a Thanksgiving dinner which he has not only cooked but shot on the hoof or wing.

In his apartment at Essex House, Mr. Melchior allowed as how his Thanksgiving dinner would consist of venison, partridge pheasant, prairie chicken or wild duck.

IT ALL DEPENDS on what the housekeeper, out in the Melchior manse in California, pulls out of the deep freezers and ships east. Whatever it is, Mr. Melchior will have conked it dead some months previously and will duly dunk it in buttermilk for 24 hours before cooking.

Unlike most cordon bleu chefs, Mr. Melchior does not guard his prize recipes with the jealousy of a Turk safeguarding his segaglio. He is willing to share, if only he can teach Americans to cook game as well as he does.

Now that the game season is open from coast to coast on everything including hunters, Mr. Melchior shudders to think of the kitchen crimes committed in the preparation of game. He feels that most American housewives in this generation have had insufficient experience with such cookery to do it up brown.

The world's foremost portrayer of Tristan says it is as important to catch a barrel of buttermilk as it is to catch the game. He soaks all game birds as well as venison in buttermilk. It's an old Danish custom, and Mr. Melchior—all six feet four of him—is not called the Great Dane for nothing.

If Mr. Melchior is lavishing his talents on wild ducks, he stuffs them first with fresh apples and dried prunes. (He thinks everyone knows enough to clean the duck well and season it with salt and pepper first.)

Then the singer wraps up his duck in aluminum foil, sticks it in the oven and bakes it. It is at this point that the instructions get fuzzy. Mr. Melchior is one of those geniuses who cook by instinct. His nose simply knows when the duck (or venison or pheasant or partridge) is done.

HE ISN'T the man to be fenced in with details as to "what temperature should the oven be?" and "how long should I cook the bird?"

Mr. Melchior's advice is short, simple and to the point: "Cook it until it is done." He can't abide the 8-minute school of cooking thought that deems the duck cooked to perfection when the carving knife is followed by a flow of rich, red gore.

About 30 minutes before his nose tells him any game bird is done, he takes it out of the aluminum foil and lets the bird brown in the oven.

It's all right to accompany Wagner on the piano, but Mr. Melchior prefers to accompany a game bird with wild rice (or mashed or creamed potatoes) and a salad of cucumbers or of mixed greens. And a good red wine.

"But none of that green stuff like speenich or streng beans," boomed the Met's man Friday. "Vegetables are for kids, not for men," he added.

Begin such a meal with a light soup or a few hors d'oeuvre, if you like, Mr. Melchior says. And end up with any kind of dessert for which you still have the capacity.

A beautiful smile spread over Mr. Melchior's face. All of his chins trembled in anticipation. "But for me," he concluded, "after such a meal, coffee, brandy and a good cigar, I would like."

Health To You

'Shaking Palsy' Victims

PARALYSIS agitans, Parkinson's disease or "shaking palsy" are different names for a rather common disorder of the nervous system. The symptoms generally begin gradually, usually in one hand. At first the typical shaking movement may not be present all of the time. A loss of muscular movements become less rapid and more difficult to carry through. The trembling movements at rest are not long delayed.

Two kinds of Parkinson's disease are common. One is that which develops in older people and more often in men than in women, the cause of which is not known. It is probably related to the aging process. Sometimes severe anxiety or shock brings on the symptoms but the real cause is probably something else.

Some infections, especially what is called epidemic encephalitis which is a virus infection of the brain, sometimes spoken of as American sleeping sickness, is responsible for the second variety. When Parkinson's disease develops from this cause, it comes about as frequently in women as in men. Of course, it is likely to occur at younger ages also.

People who have either kind of paralysis agitans are usually advised against becoming overtired. A reasonably active life with some work is good for most; however, strenuous exercise is usually taboo. Cold-water treatments, special exercises, sun baths, massage and vitamin preparation have all been tried without much success.

There are several drugs which are often helpful in controlling the "shakes" too, but there is no single treatment which will cure the condition. Nevertheless many, many people get along with it for a long time without serious difficulty. (NEA Service, Inc.)

So They Say

The result of the (New York) senatorial election is a setback, not a gain, for the policies of the national administration since Senator Dulles ran well ahead of the local tickets all over the state. —Gov. Thomas Dewey.

We are eager to have it known that here in Tibet, a land that is specially dedicated to religion, all of our peoples, both lay and monk, are earnestly praying that God will grant happiness and everlasting peace to all humanity.

I feel that I can now quit eating crow and try a little pecking for a change. —Dr. George Gallup, who came close on the recent elections.

I do not believe that men or governments can safely or in good conscience stand idle and complacent while so many of their brothers are miserable and desperate, when action to relieve them is possible. —Norris E. Dodd, director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

We're trying to bring conservation out of the realm of the expert, and make it a problem for the whole community. —Dr. Kenneth Hunt of Antioch college.

When men stop being afraid, they begin thinking in terms of the substance of the problems before them and their real solutions. —Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate to UN.

The party that nominates a woman for vice president or president will win the 1952 election. —Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R), Maine.

Census Takers Start April 1

20 Million Increase Seen Since 1940

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(UP)—Uncle Sam is getting ready to ring your doorbell.

Armed with questions, pencils and tact, the census-takers will start out April 1 to make the count of population, houses and farms.

The enumerators will count about 150,000,000 people and will require three weeks in cities, twice as long in rural sections. It will take two years to tabulate the results.

The census-takers will find the nation has nearly 20,000,000 more people than 10 years ago. For the first time in history women will outnumber the men. The pollsters will learn that Americans steadily are getting better education.

The census will show the nation has just completed its moving decade. Some 70,000,000 people have changed residence since 1940. That probably will mean some western states will get additional legislators in congress—and some eastern states will get a cut in their representation.

The census bureau will hire 140,000 bell-ringers to bring the nation's vital statistics up to date. A high school diploma is a prerequisite. So is a rugged constitution.

What a whale of a difference when Oil does it all!

WHAT DO WE MEAN when we say that in Dynaflo Drive* "oil does it all"?

Simply that in Dynaflo Drive, the spinning of oil in the Dynaflo unit does what you have long needed shifting gears to accomplish. For instance—

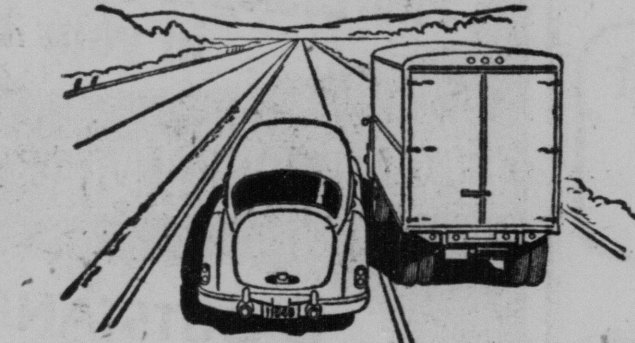

Here you are starting out. In most cars, you have to throw out a clutch and shift into low gear to get starting power. In Dynaflo, you simply set your lever in Driving position—and nudge the gas treadle.

Oil spins in a sealed drum to give you all the power needed for starting—but there's no transmission gear-whine whatever.

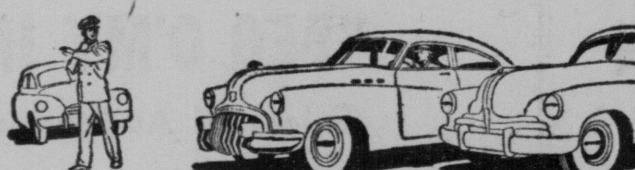

Now you are beginning to move. In most cars, you shift manually—into second, then third—each time repeating that press-the-pedal-move-the-lever routine.

With Dynaflo, oil simply spins in a different path within the Dynaflo unit and you move into cruising pace easy as a bird taking off.

Here's a slow-moving vehicle you want to pass. In other cars you may have to shift again—with a definite loss of forward motion. That means a lag before you get action—and maybe another shift back into high after you have passed.

Not so with Dynaflo. Just step on the throttle, and spinning oil takes the path to give you extra power for passing. Response is as fast as engine response—practically instantaneous.

Here's a common traffic situation. Usually you go into second or low—in order to get a good fast getaway.

With Dynaflo, just press the gas treadle, never touching the shift lever. Spinning oil will find the proper channel of flow to give you getaway power—power that's ever-smooth—and great enough to step you out smartly and with unbroken, velvety smoothness.

Does that mean you never shift at all? Not quite.

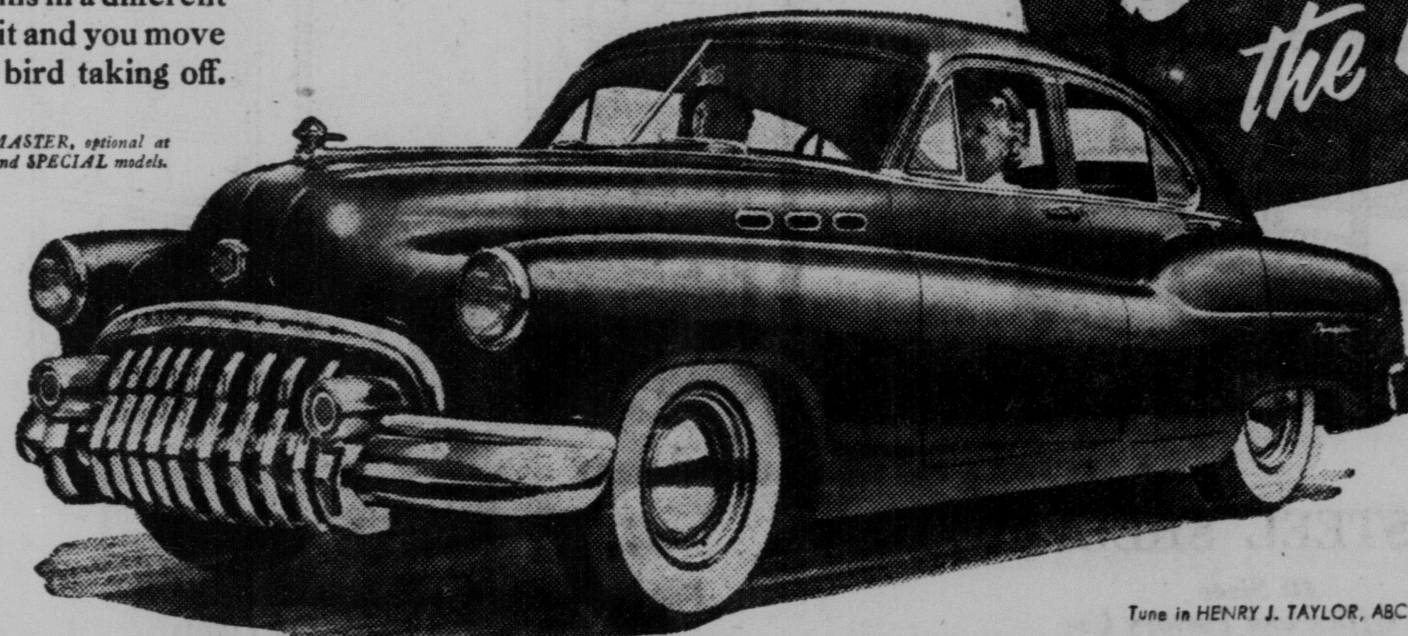

For emergency braking power, for starts on very steep hills with heavy loads, for rocking out of sand or snow, you may occasionally change to Emergency Low range. This simply puts the entire Dynaflo operation into an extra powerful range.

But for all normal driving, you can use Driving range entirely. Oil will travel whatever course is required to give you the kind of power you need without any gear-changing whatever.

To see what a whale of a difference that makes—in ease, freedom of mind, and restfulness in a long day—ask your Buick dealer for a demonstration.

That, plus some very particular advantages in economy of upkeep, will convince you that Dynaflo is truly the "drive of the future."

Librarians Fete Children At Party

Presentation of reading awards by Miss Daisy Fisher, Children's librarian, highlighted a children's party Saturday afternoon in the public library assembly room.

Guests composed the Vacation reading group, which was made up of students from the third to eighth grades.

Designated as the "49ers," the children "treked" across the country, via books, on practically the same trail as that taken by the historic 1849ers on their trip to the west coast. Each child was required to read 10 books and to give a report on them.

The prizes, books, were given by the library. Winners are as follows:

Seventh grade, first, Mary Unger; second, Rosemary Helman, both of Junior High school; sixth grade, first, George Buta of Columbia street school; second, Joan Cain of Washingtonville; third, Rosemarie Sulea of Prospect street school; fifth grade, first, Marilyn Perrine of Junior High school; second, Sally Hutcheson of Buckeye school; third, James Barcus of Riley school.

Fourth grade, first, Jimmie Grisev of Riley; second, Judith Fisher of St. Paul's parochial; third, Irene Snow of McKinley; third grade, first, Sally Lou Karp of Columbia street; second, Suzanne Henning of McKinley; third, Sandra Ann Centofani of St. Paul's parochial.

Thomas Eichler, who hobby is miniature trains, was the main entertainer. He was presented by Miss Fisher, who presided.

Miss Ruth Henry of Columbiana displayed her puppets in a show, while James Bryan gave a group of clarinet solos with Ben Bailey at the piano.

This party was a part of the library's observance of Book week, which is in its 31st year.

EDMUND BLACKBURN, Edward Cormany and James Gregg composed the committee in charge of the Thanksgiving dance sponsored by Salem lodge of Elks Saturday evening in the home.

Approximately 35 couples attended the dinner, and at the dance the group numbered around 75 couples. They were from Salem, Lisbon and Youngstown.

Bob Hall of East Liverpool and his orchestra played the dance the group numbered Jayne Smith, singer, were featured.

The lodge has scheduled another dance for Dec. 3. The Melody Makers of Salem will furnish music.

TWELVE friends of Miss Millie Maier carried out a surprise for her Saturday evening at the home of Miss Mary Jane Taffan, S. Ellsworth ave., who with Miss Florence Maier arranged the party. The honor guest was presented gifts. After a period of games, refreshments were served.

MISS Mildred Wyss will lead the meeting of the Lydia Bible class of Holy Trinity Lutheran church. Members will tell their "Happiest Experience." Hostesses will be Mrs. Olga Bruders, Mrs. Walter Seederly and Mrs. C. G. Blackburn.

Mrs. Charles L. Smith of Fayette City, Pa., has concluded a visit with Miss Myra Erwin of Franklin st. From here she went to Canton to visit friends.

Coys Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Marking 50 years of married life, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coy of the Franklin rd. were feted at a delightful social event Sunday at the home of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Coy of the Georgetown rd.

A family dinner at noon, was followed by an open house reception in the afternoon.

Two hundred relatives and friends from Salem, Cleveland, Youngstown, Canton, Poland and Alliance called to offer congratulations.

The home was made attractive with beautiful flowers, which were among the gifts brought for the honor guests. They also received telegrams and greeting cards.

Miss Martha Godward, a school teacher, and W. W. Coy were married Thanksgiving day, 1899, and have spent their life in this vicinity. Mr. Coy, who is now retired, was engaged in farming for many years and also operated a gasoline station.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy are the parents of four sons, Ralph of Canton; Walter of Detroit and Wilbur and Ellis of Salem. They have eight grandchildren.

Both Mr. Coy's parents and Mrs. Coy's parents lived to observe their golden wedding anniversaries.

Mrs. Grace Sanford of Elbow Lake, Minn., sister of Mrs. Coy, was here for the celebration.

About People You Know

Miss Ruth Thomas Weds Elmer Knecht

Wearing an attractive light blue wool dress, complemented with winter white accessories and a corsage of red roses, Miss Ruth Thomas became the bride of Elmer Knecht at 8 p. m. Friday in St. Phillips Neri Catholic rectory, Dunganon. Rev. Fr. Marceau officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Snively of East Canton. Mrs. Snively wore a corsage of yellow roses with a green outfit.

Twenty guests, members of the two families, witnessed the nuptials and attended a reception in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thomas of Kensington.

A tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom graced the refreshments table, which was laid with white linen. Miss Mary Lou Knecht, sister of the groom, and Mrs. William Maple, sister of the bride, presided.

The bride is a graduate of the Minerva High school. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Knecht of Kensington. He graduated from the Carrollton High school and served one year in the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hess of E. Fourth st. attended the wedding. Mrs. Hess is a sister of the bride.

MEETING Sunday evening in the church, members of the Gold Star class of the Christian church planned a Christmas party and gift exchange for 5 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 18. The affair will be in the church.

Ardent Crumbaker, president, officiated at the business session. Calvin Filler conducted the devotions. Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Scott gave talks.

Members expressed appreciation to those who patronized a recent project. Mrs. Lloyd Marshall and Mrs. Calvin Filler served refreshments.

NANCY Jean Radler was feted at a skating party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Radler, of Jennings ave., Saturday afternoon in the Brookwood rink, Albany rd.

The affair, enjoyed by fifth graders of St. Paul's parochial school, and a few friends, was arranged to celebrate Nancy Jean's 10th birthday.

A large birthday cake ornamented with candles was served with the lunch. Multi-colors were carried out in the pretty appointments. Favors were given the guests.

Linda Radler of Washingtonville, cousin of the honoree, was here for the celebration.

SIX tables were employed at "500" when Salem lodge, Knights of Pythias, sponsored a card party Saturday evening in the hall.

Prizes were won by Miss Gladys Seederly, James Baxter, Mrs. William Lippert and Warren Everhart. Mrs. Gilbert Everhart won the traveling prize. Lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. James Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scullion, Herbert Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Everhart arranged the party. Another benefit will be held in two weeks.

MISS Donna Rae Leipper was complimented with a lovely tea-shower given by Miss Eleanor Schell and Mrs. Richard Clay Sunday afternoon in the Schell home, Ellsworth rd. There were 12 guests.

Red roses were used in the living and dining room decorations. Miss Leipper received pretty gifts.

Miss Leipper will become the bride of Ray Snyder at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday in the First Baptist church. Custom of open church will be observed.

THE home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoopes of R. D. 3, Salem, was the center of an enjoyable social event Sunday when the children of the late Mr. and Mrs. James J. Hoopes gathered for an advance Thanksgiving dinner. Places were arranged for 38.

Mrs. Latha Harris Knoedler and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Harris of Canton were among the guests. Others were from Salem and vicinity.

MR. AND MRS. Rudolph Fronius entertained at a family dinner Sunday evening at their home, Liberty st. For dessert the hostess served raspberries picked in her back yard Sunday morning.

MEMBERS of Charles H. Carey post, American Legion, will be guests of the auxiliary Tuesday evening in the Legion home. Mrs. Golda Bumbaugh is arranging the program.

Miss Miriam E. Bauman, a sophomore at Capital university, will be home for Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. John Bauman, 595 N. Union ave. She is majoring in biology at the university.

Mrs. R. B. Kernohan of S. Lincoln ave. has returned from a trip to St. Petersburg, Fla.

Turkeys Plentiful At Lower Prices

Indications are that your Thanksgiving turkey will cost less than it did a year ago.

The Mahoning Valley Turkey Growers association, meeting recently in the Presbyterian church in Columbiana, tentatively set the prices for the birds.

It appears that the dressed fowls will sell at 70 to 75 cents for hens and 82 to 85 for toms. A year ago, some dealers were getting 85 cents a pound for hens.

Jerome Hull of Canfield, president of the group conducted the meeting, with between 60 and 65 growers and their wives from the Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Portage county area. Most of those in attendance are members of the association.

Supply Plentiful

There's a bumper crop of gobblers coming to market which means plenty of white and dark meat.

The second largest crop of birds on record, an estimated 41,107,000 turkeys, are gobbling on ranches and in barnyards over the nation waiting for stuffing and holiday fixin's. But, plentiful as the heavy fowl will be this year, 1945's record of 44 million birds won't be menaced.

Prices will be cheaper this year. A decline in feed costs which amounts to as much as $1 per hundred pounds is one reason. The other is the large number of newcomers to the turkey raising business who were attracted by last year's record high prices. Turkey growing is a hazardous business as the big birds are notoriously panicky and overly susceptible to bad weather. The huge flock of new growers, plus some "in-and-out" producers, are responsible for heavy death losses of poults this year.

All states are producing a larger crop than a year ago, ranging from an increase of three per cent in New York to 121 per cent in Arkansas.

California, the leading turkey state, has the largest crop of record, estimated at 6,353,000 birds. Texas, which will contribute some 4,225,000 turkeys this year, plus California, will produce more than a quarter of the nation's birds.

the amount of work completed and what purchases have been made for the cafeteria.

Prices on finishing the football field were presented, and Alva Tetlow, basketball coach, introduced the players. Delwar Court, Junior High basketball coach, introduced his players.

The profit from the turkey dinner was reported to be $689.49. A musical program, arranged by Mrs. William Dunn, was present and refreshments were served.

Set Yule Program

An exchange of Christmas gifts will be a feature of the next meeting of the Progressive Farm Women's club when Mrs. Orie Galbreath will entertain Thursday afternoon, Dec. 15.

The annual turkey dinner was enjoyed Thursday at the home of Mrs. Cromwell with twenty members and four children present. Gifts for the Old Ladies home in Salem will be taken to the next meeting and a group of members will present them to the home. Mrs. Ralph Goist and Mrs. Pike were received as members. The hostess presented each member a large chrysanthemum.

Members of the Dorcas society plan to hold another meeting in January. The group was entertained Thursday by Mrs. Sarah Steer and Mrs. Elizabeth Stacy. Two comforts were made and a covered dinner was served at noon with fourteen present.

Newlyweds Feted

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hall, who were recently married, were surprised at a belling Thursday evening followed by a miscellaneous shower of gifts by the neighbors. Fifty guests were present. Gifts were presented the honorees. The event was held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hall, who served the lunch.

Return Home

Mrs. Crawford Brantingham and daughter, Patricia Lea, returned home from the Salem Central clinic Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Brantingham of Salem called on Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Brantingham and family Thursday evening. Diana, who was in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Brantingham, returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Brantingham, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Alfred Robson of Cambridge visited Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Chain several days this week. Fred Wuthrick is confined to the house with mumps.

Rev. John Williams of Adrian, Mich., visited his parents, Dr.

and Mrs. W. R. Williams, Thursday and Friday.

Christmas gifts will be exchanged when members of the Friendship circle Sunday School class of the Methodist church will be entertained at the next regular meeting by Mrs. Alton Bye, Mrs. T. R. Sommerville and Mrs. R. P. Geiger Wednesday evening, Dec. 21.

Mrs. Wilbur Knight entertained the group Wednesday evening with Mrs. Warren Apple and Mrs. A. E. Bailey associate hostesses. Mrs. Frank Delzell conducted devotional. A nominating committee composed of Mrs. C. G. Long, Mrs. Wilbur Knight and Mrs. M. J. Beiler was appointed to present names at the next meeting for election of officers.

Take Off Ugly Fat With This Home Recipe

Here is an inexpensive home recipe for taking off ungainly weight and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from your drugist, four ounces of liquid RENNEL Concentrate. Add enough grapefruit juice to make a pint. Then just take two tablespoonsful twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly. Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle and get your money back.

Miss Helen Gragny of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Alfred Robson of Cambridge and Mrs. W. B. Chain were guests. Door prizes were won by Miss Faye Pyle and Mrs. Lester Bauman.

Lunch was served by the hostesses.

The Rainbow Initiation ceremony was presented by the Home Economics club when new members entered the organization. The purpose of the initiation was to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfaction of home making. The goal is learning to enjoy the everyday tasks of homemaking.

Roth, Callahan Named To 1949 All-County Grid Squad

Potters Place Seven On Team

Nick Trua Unanimous Choice Of Coaches

The Salem High Quakers placed two men on the 1949 All-County football team, selected last week by members of the Columbiana County Coach's association at a meeting in Salem.

End Fritz Roth and Quarterback Jimmy Callahan were named to the first team, while Ford Joseph, guard, Don Loutzenhiser, center, and George Reash, back, were given second team berths.

On the first two squads, East Liverpool placed seven men. Salem got five spots, Lisbon four, East Palestine three, Columbiana two, Leetonia two and Wellsville one.

Roth and Charles Bell, East Liverpool's stellar guard, were the only repeaters from the 1948 All-County team. However, the top vote getter—with a unanimous vote—was Center Nick Trua, the Potter's linebacker. He was named honorary captain of the squad by the coaches.

The first team backfield is composed of Callahan, Harold Stanley of East Liverpool, Cliff Davis of East Palestine, John Ebert of Lisbon, and George Fisher of Columbiana. Fisher was named to the '48 second team.

On the line, along with Roth, Bell and Trua, the county's coaches named Paul Dugan of East Palestine at end, Bill Pizzica of East Liverpool and Warren Gurski of Lisbon at tackles and Tom Pekarchick of Lisbon at guard.

There are seven seniors on the first team. Callahan, Roth, Pekarchick and Stanley are juniors, while Davis is a sophomore.

The All-County squad averages 171 pounds on the line and 157 in the backfield, with an overall average of 165 pounds.

Any coach would probably give his eye teeth to field the selected team. It has a fierce, hard-charging line and a speedy, backfield which boasts two fine passers in Stanley and Callahan. Defensively, the team would stack up with the best.

Howard Parker, East Palestine coach, was elected president of coaches' association at last week's meeting. Edwin "Bud" Bucher of Lisbon was named vice president and Don Mohr, East Liverpool assistant got the treasurer's post. Byron Eells, Liverpool newspaperman, is the new association secretary.

Wade Watts Named Coach Of Year

Coach Wade Watts of East Liverpool, who this season led the Potters from the doldrums of football, has been named "coach of the year" by his colleagues in the Columbiana Coaches' Association.

His selection was made at the same meeting at which the coaches picked the All-County team, listed elsewhere on this page.

A graduate of Baldwin-Wallace college, he formerly coached at Midvale. His father, Ray Watts, until his retirement this year, was coach of the B-W Yellow-jackets.

Watts transformed a very ordinary Potter eleven into a hard fighting, tight defensive team, with little or no change in personnel from the 1948 eleven.

The '49 Potters won five games and dropped four. They clinched the county championship by drubbing Salem 35-14.

Previous "coach of the year" selections went to Howard Parker of East Palestine (1946), Bud Bucher of Lisbon (1947) and Ben Barrett of Salem (1948).

Browns Capture AAC Title Again

Fans Still Want Playoff Of Leagues

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—(AP)—Football fans are the beneficiaries in the pro-grid war but they would like to see the conflicting factions smoke the peace pipe for just one game—the Cleveland Browns vs. The National league champions.

The Browns have won the All America conference title for the fourth successive season.

Ever since the Browns picked up the marbles in 1946, the AAC's first year of operation, "the customers have been wondering what they would do against the National's finest.

According to rumors the two leagues will arrive at some sort of an agreement during the winter, perhaps after the owners receive their year-end bank statements.

Otto Graham directed Cleveland to its clinching triumph by passing the Browns to a 31-0 triumph over the New York Yankees.

The defeat dumped the Yanks out of second into third place. The idle San Francisco 49ers moved into the runner-up slot.

Buffalo defeated the Chicago Hornets, 10-0, to replace the Hornets in fourth place, the last playoff slot.

The Hornets fell into a fifth place tie with the Los Angeles Dons who whipped the Baltimore Colts, 21-10.

Philadelphia pounded New York's hapless Bulldogs, 42-0, with Steven Van Buren eating up yardage as a kid does ice cream. The Eagles need only one more victory to clinch their third straight title.

The Detroit Lions upset Steve Owen's New York Giants, 45-21. The form reversal dumped the New Yorkers from second into third place with the Pittsburgh Steelers stepping up by knocking off the Green Bay Packers, 30-7.

The Los Angeles Rams fought the Chicago Cardinals to a 28-28 standoff to protect their western half lead over the Chicago Bears, who defeated the Washington Redskins, 31-21.

Writers To Pick State Champions

Massillon, Mansfield Both Claim Honor

COLUMBUS, Nov. 21—(INS)—Final awarding of Ohio's mythical 1949 high school football championship was all settled today—depending upon which part of the state you live in.

Up Stark county way, Massillon's mighty Tigers are convinced they have earned a share of the crown. Over in Richland county, Mansfield's Tygers are just as sure the title should be theirs.

And in various other parts of the state, undefeated Cincinnati Purcell and Circleville, along with a half-dozen others, all are clamoring for official recognition.

Massillon's claim rests on its 6-0 upset victory Saturday over previously undefeated Canton McKinley, for four weeks the choice of sports writers and sports experts as the state's number one team.

One perfect play—a 35-yard payoff dash by little Irvin Crable, Massillon's power-driving fullback—proved the decisive factor in an otherwise even battle.

The defeat marked the seventh straight time McKinley has missed a perfect season by a single victory and was Massillon's 24th triumph against 25 for Canton and five ties in the 54-game rivalry between the two schools since 1894.

Although most observers had expected the winner of the titanic Stark county affair to be heralded almost unanimously state champion, such definitely has not proved the case.

The final gun had scarcely cracked on the Tiger-Bulldog clash before a gigantic victory celebration was under way in Mansfield heralding the city's Tygers 1949 state champions.

Some 3,000 fans crowded Mansfield's Central park for a 40-minute, hectic, screaming rally hailing the Tygers "state champ" on the basis of their best season in history—a nine won, one lost mark.

The mixup between Massillon and Mansfield results from the

Bucks To Relax Before Drills

Cager Schnittker May Not Make Trip

COLUMBUS, Nov. 21—(AP)—With the Rose Bowl game nearly six weeks away, Ohio State university's Buckeyes will take it easy as far as football is concerned.

The Bucks were expected to get their "official" bid later in the day from Big Ten conference officials.

Rose Bowl foes are permitted but 16 days of practice.

The Ohioans will not practice in Columbus. Instead, they will travel westward, either by plane or rail.

If the squad flies, it will work out at some spot near Pasadena, Calif., for the entire 16 days. But if it goes by train, it will stop off for practice sessions several times en route.

Athletic department heads will meet throughout the week to work out the itinerary.

However, the players will not leave before Dec. 15, when final scholastic examinations for the autumn quarter will end.

They will be honored at 5:45 p. m. today at the annual Ohio State football appreciation banquet. About 1,500 are expected to crowd into the men's gymnasium for what promises to be the biggest banquet ever for the Bucks.

Meanwhile, Ohio fans wondered if Dick Schnittker, Buck football and cage star, would play in the Rose Bowl.

Wes Fesler, Buckeye coach, and W. H. H. (Tippy) Dye, basketball coach, will decide this week.

Schnittker is a left end on the football team. He also is captain and star of the basketball team.

Esco Sarkinen, an end coach, said yesterday that "I feel that Dick has made his full contribution to the team."

Dye says it would be theoretically necessary for Schnittker to play the first three cage games of the season, but he sees a strong possibility that Schnittker will go to the bowl.

Wrestling Show To Draw Crowd

A brisk ticket sale has been reported for Saturday night's wrestling show at the Memorial building—the first to be held in Salem in two years.

Promoter-wrestler Frank "Toar" Julian predicts a "good house" for the matches. He intends to hold a series of shows here this winter, featuring some big-name wrestlers, including Don Eagle, famous Indian grappler.

The ticket sale is being handled by the Salem Amvets, co-sponsors of the show. The ducats are on sale at the Recreation Billiards and at the Amvet club rooms.

Saturday's card includes matches between Julian, 235-pounder, and Jim Spencer, 225, of Boston and another involving Walter "Sneeze" Achui, 205, and Pancho Valentino, 215, of Mexico City.

The four bruisers will cap the program with an Australian tag match. All three bouts will be best two out of three fall affairs, with a one hour time limit on each.

fact that both boast identical season marks. Massillon was defeated by Mansfield, 16-12, midway through the campaign, and the Tygers lost to Akron South, 34-27, in their season opener.

Purcell, which won the greater Cincinnati championship, 39-0, over Cincinnati Roger Bacon yesterday, Circleville, Toledo Libbey, Fremont, Middletown and several other schools may come in for some mention, but the main contest lies between Mansfield and Massillon.

Eddie Finnigan Heads Booster Banquet Tonight

With a sell-out crowd assured, plans were finally completed Sunday for the annual Salem Boosters club football banquet at 6:30 tonight in the Memorial building.

More than 300 Boosters, guests, and Salem High football players and their coaches are expected to attend the affair. Eddie Finnigan, football and track coach at Baldwin-Wallace college is the principal speaker.

Plans for the banquet, under the direction of Cliff Callahan, committee chairman, include some novelty stunts this year which would enliven the proceedings.

Don E. Beattie will serve as toastmaster. Features of the program will be the awarding of Booster gifts to the 14 Senior class members of the football team and the annual presentation of the Knights of Columbus trophy. The latter award goes to the Senior player the highest scholastic average.

Eddie Finnigan served as assistant coach at Baldwin-Wallace under Ray Watts for 16 years. He took over the coaching reins this year when Watts retired.

Probably best known at present for his successes with the B-W track team, Finnigan is beloved by Western Reserve university fans as one of that school's all-time greats in football and basketball. He was named to the 1933 All-American cage team.

He has served at B-W since his graduation from Reserve. His track teams went unbeaten in 1945 and 46 and had a 26 meet string snapped in 1947 by no less than Ohio State. Finnigan is given a great deal of credit for perfecting college's most renowned athlete, Harrison Dillard, 1948 Olympic 100 meter dash champion.

Finnigan, despite his track success, claims football is his favorite sport.

He spoke to the Boosters club last spring, in company with Dillard, and is a humorous, dynamic speaker.

Strikes to Spare

The Salem Recreation Billiards team captured a special match Sunday afternoon by decisively beating a Barberton team at the Bowling Center, 2749 to 2457.

Bob Dixon was high for the Rec with 580. Ed Pukalski had 566, Jim Jackson and Darrell Zimmerman each rolled 550, and John Balta 503.

A Michigan State varsity football uniform, complete from cleats to helmet, costs about $120.

Veck Expected To Sell Today

Has No Idea About Future Activities

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21—(AP)—Restless Bill Veck is expected to sell his Cleveland Indians today after building them into the best money-making club in baseball.

The fuzzy haired promoter, who brought Cleveland its first American league pennant in 28 years and piled fans into the stadium with a circus-type ballyho, summoned reporters to a news conference (at 11 a. m., EST).

And qualified observers were confident he would turn his title as president of the Indians over to Ellis Ryan, 45-year-old Cleveland insurance man and head of a buying syndicate.

The reported purchase price was $2,200,000. This contrasted with the estimated figure of $1,250,000 Veck and others paid for the Tribe, its 13 farm clubs and old League park on June 22, 1946.

Just where the sale would leave Veck, who is 35, was not clear.

"I want to get married. I want to take a good long rest. After that—believe me. I haven't the faintest idea what comes after that."

Then he was asked why he wanted to sell the team, and he replied:

"The only way a man can make any big chunk of money under the present tax setup is to sell something he has created and to take advantage of the capital gain provision.

"I could have borrowed the money I needed in any one of several places, but I couldn't have paid it back in less than 20 years because I couldn't make enough money out of salary and dividends after taxes.

"I don't know whether I'll be alive 20 years from now and I don't want my children to be in hook to a creditor."

Veck is divorced, has three children and expects to marry Mary Frances Ackerman, 27, former Pittsburgh and New York model.

The expected new Tribe president, Ryan, said along with other associates in the venture he planned to run the club on a "lifetime basis."

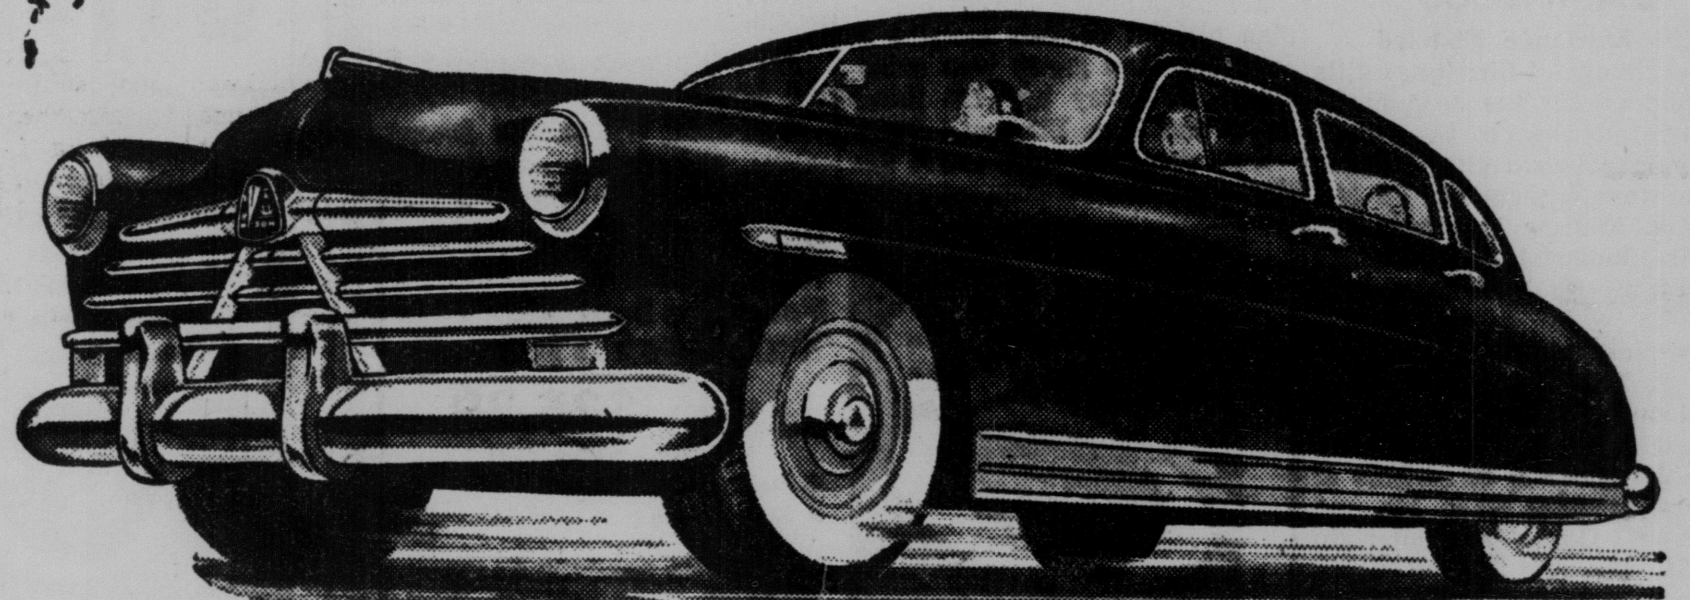

Other officers were anticipated as follows:

George Medinger, president of the Fostoria Industrial Service Co., vice president, succeeding Hank Greenberg (Greenberg to take over as general manager); Donald W. Hornbeck, Cleveland attorney, secretary, succeeding Ben F. Fiery; Harry E. Small, executive vice president and secretary of the Bank of Ohio, treasurer.

Hudson invades lower-price field

WITH FAMOUS "STEP-DOWN" DESIGN

ANNOUNCING THE NEW Hudson Pacemaker

ON DISPLAY FOR THE FIRST TIME TODAY!

See this engineering triumph... a trim-size, new car with the sensational advantages of Hudson's years-ahead "step-down" design...

A streamlined beauty with a colorful new interior featuring gorgeous wool fabrics combined with plastic Dura-fab trim...

A neat-as-can-be automobile with more room than any other car at any price, except another Hudson; yet a car that costs you less to buy... less to drive!

HUDSON'S NEW PACEMAKER is here today!... On display today!... You can see it today!

For the first time in motor-car history, you can have compactness and lower price with big-car comfort and riding qualities. For here is an agile car with more inside room than in any other car at any price, except another Hudson.

It's a trim, tidy car with a lower center of gravity than any other make—and because of this you get a smoother road-hugging ride than is possible in even the costliest cars built the old-fashioned way.

Here, Hudson's "step-down" design gives you not only all the room, comfort, safety and amazing roadability, but also all the low-built beauty, the long, free-flowing lines that can come only with the "step-down" way of building motor cars. Every body line is naturally beautiful, even to the graceful curves of the Full-View windshield.

This is Hudson's new Pacemaker... priced for millions of new-car buyers!

You ride securely—in Hudson's single-unit, all-welded, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame—safely within a box-section foundation frame that surrounds the passenger compartment, even outside the rear wheels—relaxed in the roomiest seats in any automobile.

This is Hudson's new Pacemaker... with the new higher-compression Pacemaker engine, the power-packed engine that test drivers call "the smoothest, sweetest we've ever driven!"... the rugged, long-lived engine with new carburetion and fuel intake that make it a lightning-like performer with surprisingly saving ways!

And this amazing car brings you Hudson's new Super-matic Drive (optional at extra cost)—the only automatic transmission that includes the fuel-saving advantages of overdrive and that shifts gears just as you want to shift, that doesn't creep at lights, that doesn't slip as you roll along.

There are more... many more... fresh, colorful and desirable features in this great new car... too many to mention here. Hadn't you better see it today?

*Trademark and patents pending.

Space Needs Are Topmost

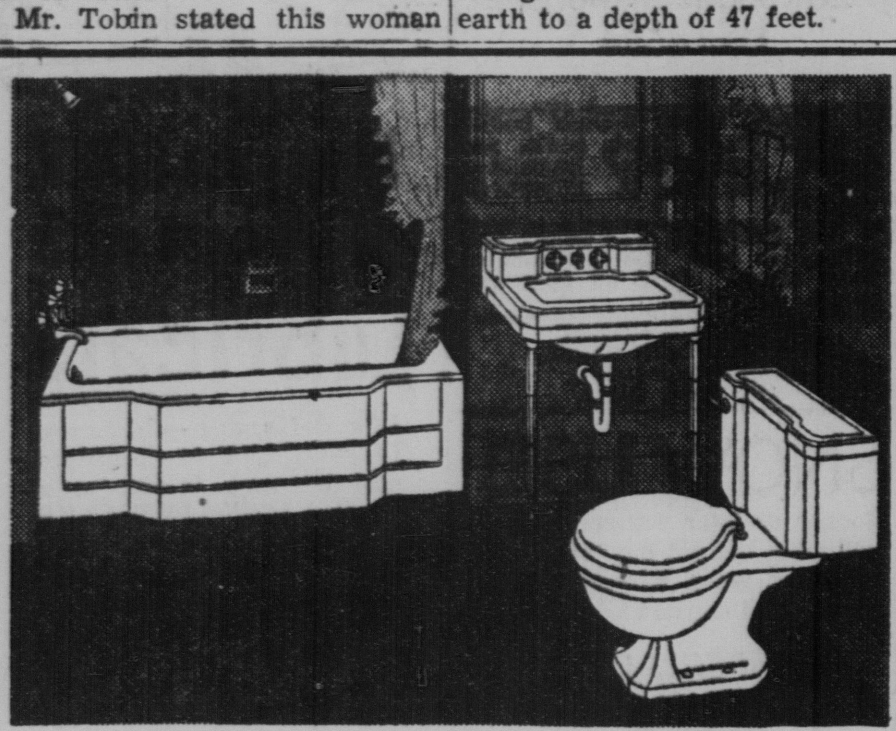

U. S. Home Much Like
1776 Only Smaller

Because of a lack of research, the American home today is not greatly improved over the house built just after the Revolutionary war, according to Don L. Tobin, executive secretary of the Ohio Savings and Loan League.

He pointed out that the present day house is a "warmed over" version of that old house, but it has shrunk in the warming over process.

Mr. Tobin stated that we have better heating systems, improvement in materials and some improvement in assembly methods and the like, but no improvement in space.

The statement from the Savings and Loan League headquarters pointed out that a woman put her finger on the space problem when she told an architect that she would like to have him design her a small house with a lot of room.

Sun's Rays Used To Cool Home

Tests Conducted
With Solar Heat

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
DENVER, Nov. 21—(AP)—The hotter the day, the cooler your house.

The blazing sunshine itself may be doing this cooling in homes in the near future.

These sun coolers already are under development at the Industrial Research Institute at the University of Denver. They are made by Dr. George O. G. Lof, director of the institute, and Robert L. Aldredge, staff research engineer. The development program is sponsored by the American Window Glass Co. of Pittsburgh.

The seeming miracle is merely reversing the sun heaters already in use to warm homes in winter. The winter heater becomes a summer cooler the same as the heat used to make ice in a refrigerator.

The Denver institute has various methods under trial for applying this principle to houses.

The Denver sun heater is a built-in glass section of roof. The structure is like a cold-frame used by gardeners to raise early spring plants. This sun box is double glass, the upper layer clear, the bottom black to absorb heat. The glass is the so-called invisible kind. Due to a microscopically thin film on its surface this glass reflects virtually no heat, but absorbs it all.

Stones Store Heat
In winter sunshine the roof heater makes a stream of air hotter than boiling water. In summer this air is hotter by half, giving scientists plenty of power for cooling.

The Denver heaters do not stop warming at night and they will continue to cool the sultry hours of summer darkness. The night heat, either for warming or cooling, comes from a big bin of gravel stones, 8 feet high and a yard wide.

These stones are heated during sunshine by the excess heat from the roof. Stones store a lot of heat, and at night the air is heated by flowing through the can.

One Unit Uses Ammonia
One of the Denver sun-cooling systems uses a mixture of water and ammonia. Hot air vaporizes the ammonia. Then water at ordinary temperatures cools the vapor back to liquid ammonia, which is very cold. Air pipes passing over this liquid cool

TRENDS IN BUILDING COSTS—Building costs have declined, but not very much, from their all-time peaks of 1948. A brick home that cost $5,000 in 1910 costs four times as much to build now. The new chart above shows how the cost of building has followed right along with the cost of building materials since 1910 and construction workers' wages since 1934, the first year when comparative statistics became available. Data is from the Cleveland Trust Company and the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The house. The ammonia then runs back into the water to repeat the cycle.

Another sun-cooling system here merely takes the excess humidity out of the air, a good scheme in those areas where you think "it's not the heat, but the humidity."

This humidity is trapped by blowing the air over beds of pea-size, blue pellets of silica gel. This gel absorbs its own weight in water. When full, the pellets turn pink and quit absorbing. Then they have to be dried, but they will repeat, and do this indefinitely. The sun-heater does a quick-drying job by blowing hot air over the pellets.

This same dried air can also be used for cooling. Spraying water through the gel-dried air can drop the temperature to 40 degrees Fahrenheit. This is a scientific variation of the poor man's air-conditioning a principle long used in hot, dry countries.

FUNDS LACKING
EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 21—Councilmen today said they saw "no chance" to raise the required $66,000 for matching funds for right of way for a $2,000,000 highway between East Liverpool and Wellsville.

North Carolina leads all other states of the Union in the manufacture of wooden bedroom and dining room furniture.

New Building Era Predicted

Comfort, Privacy,
Beauty Stressed

A new era of American home building is here, according to the magazine Practical Builder.

A preview into the next decade of home design reveals a strong trend toward modern, contemporary architecture, with less emphasis on conventional, boxy, two-story homes.

Homes designed by leading architects from all over the country are featured in the current issue. Here are some important trends outlined for the "House of 1950-60":

Better orientation of house to lot to provide comfort, privacy and beauty, with all use made of prevailing winds and sunlight.

Built-in storage and furniture to conserve space.

Low pitched roofs appear to be gaining popularity.

Some architects favor smaller bedrooms which serve mainly as sleeping quarters, giving the additional space to the "living" portion of the house.

Open-planing makes rooms flow together with minimum of walls, obtaining a deceptive expanse in a relatively small floor area. The separate dining room appears to be almost a thing of the past.

Old-time building materials are being suggested in new combinations producing structural materials that require no further finish. Natural brick walls are often used on the inside wall where brick also occurs on the twin outside wall.

Some of the designs are a compromise between conventional and contemporary designs. Varied roof lines, hand-split rustic appearing shingles, native stone and ornamental ironwork, signs of the contemporary house, are blended with the "modern" touch of brick and glass, foreground planting boxes and smart designs. Glass walls, an open porch or stone patio and other architectural attractions are used.

Kitchens still remain one of the most important parts of the "house of the next decade," Richard B. Pollman, of East Detroit, Mich., is in favor of a kitchen-laundry, set up as the "work center" and focal point of the post-war home.

Appraiser Can Help Buyer Judge House

In considering purchase of an old house it often is wise to enlist the services of a professional appraiser or other qualified person before making a decision. Most prospective buyers have relatively little knowledge of the finer points of house construction and therefore are incapable of judging correctly the value of an old house.

When the purchase is to be financed through a lending agency, of course, the latter will have the property appraised by specialists before the loan is approved. In a cash deal, however, the buyer is "on his own" in determining value. By having an expert inspect the house the buyer can obtain an accurate estimate of its worth.

There are a number of features which must be considered in determining whether a home is well built. Many are structural details which cannot be readily checked by the average person. Others are in plain view. Among the latter, for example, are the floors. One of the most important parts of a house, they should be strong, durable, attractive, comfortable and easy to keep clean. It is highly advantageous, moreover, to have floors which can be restored to their original beauty at moderate cost after years of wear or neglect.

Little Pay, Poor Housing Limits Rural Teachers

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—(AP)—Unfavorable living conditions and low salaries are preventing rural areas from securing adequate teachers, says Dr. Frank W. Cyr, specialist in rural education.

Dr. Cyr, professor of education at Teachers college of Columbia university, said in an interview that to attract teachers to rural areas there must be substantial improvement in housing, greater opportunity for teachers to enjoy more privacies, better transportation and better organized ways of making the teacher feel a part of the community.

Housing looms as one of the largest reasons for teacher shortages in rural areas, he says. "One rural school in a southern town pays the highest principal's salary in that section of the country but has had a rapid turnover in the past few years. On the other hand, a similar school paying a much lower salary has been able to keep top men because an attractive home goes with the job."

Dr. Cyr says farmers have prospered to the extent where the better homes in both country and village are not interested in "boarding" the single teacher.

Adjustment Problem
"A person accustomed to city living finds it hard to adjust to a home with no bathroom and an outdoor toilet."

Young teachers who must live in the homes of the community feel they do not have enough opportunity to live their own lives. "Many citizens who smoke, dance, and play cards themselves criticize teachers for doing so."

Transportation is another problem. Many rural communities are not accessible by bus line and most citizens seem to forget that teachers don't always own cars. Teachers like to be free to go or stay as they choose. Yet, some schoolboards require a teacher to stay in the community three weekends out of four.

"The problem there is not one of requiring them to stay but of helping them to find suitable recreation," says Dr. Cyr. "In some areas teachers are expected to take positions of leadership. In others, they are largely ignored. In still others, all the difficult jobs are saved for the teachers."

"Every community should have some federated club whose special project it is to see that new teachers are made to feel welcome, but not imposed upon, to see that they are helped to find adequate housing and that they are invited into the homes of the community."

Salary Problem
Rural teachers need salaries at least equal to their urban counterparts, says Dr. Cyr. Although rent may be somewhat lower than in cities, other costs are higher.

"Yet," continues Dr. Cyr, "you will note average rural salaries are about two-thirds of average urban salaries. (About $2,026 for rural as against $3,074 for urban). Prior to 1947-48, it was a little less than half. The progress made is due to the increased prosperity of our farmers and to the strides made in state aid for education. But if farm income continues to go down this condition no doubt will soon be reflected in lower rural teachers' salaries. That is why the states must assure at least minimum salaries for all teachers."

However, Dr. Cyr adds, "in many ways living conditions in rural communities are more attractive than in urban centers. The teacher has more room, more opportunity to enjoy nature, and he is very often recognized more as a personality and respected more as a leader in the community. He is more than just a name."

Skunk Oil

Wonderful For CHEST COLDS

R. J. Blake, Pennsylvania druggist, says: "SKUNK OIL SALVE gives quick relief from distress of chest colds, croupy coughs, muscular aches and pains." For centuries, the rich, warm, penetrating oil of the lowly skunk has been used in Russia and other cold countries to relieve certain forms of congestion, rheumatism and sore, aching muscles. Now, this pure natural penetrating oil is incorporated with six other natural ingredients into a delightfully smelling aromatic salve. Its warm, stimulating glow will last hours longer than the cheaper petroleum salves. Get a small jar at your druggist today. Don't wait! (If druggist out of stock, accept no substitutes but rush 75c to Oil-Tyme Medicine Co., Box 1126, Warren, Ohio, for genuine relief-giving SKUNK OIL SALVE. Or $2 to above address for a year's supply for the whole family!)

Chamber Of Commerce Aids ECA Project

E. M. Stephenson, president of the Salem Chamber of Commerce today said his organization is co-operating with the Economic Cooperation Administration in the compilation of a directory of small business firms for distribution overseas.

The directory, to be published by ECA, will list the names and products of small independent firms which desire to enter or continue in export trade under the Marshall Plan.

To compile the directory, ECA is asking small business firms to register this month. Registration forms are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, 417 E. State st.

Farm Surpluses Cost U. S. Two Billion Plus

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP)—The federal government had $2,680,000,000 invested in surplus farm commodities at the end of August, the Agriculture department reported today.

Of this amount, $1,042,000,000 had been paid to farmers as price-support loans on such products as corn, wheat, tobacco, cotton, and other grains.

The remaining $1,638,000,000 was spent for purchase of commodities under price support operations.

Canton Youth Draws Reformatory Sentence

CANTON, Nov. 21—(AP)—An 18-year-old Canton youth, wounded Sunday when he tried to escape from Chicago police, has been sentenced to one to 15 years in Mansfield reformatory. The youth, Jerry Risalti, pleaded guilty in Stark county common pleas court yesterday to six counts of breaking and entering.

Chicago police were trying to arrest him for jumping a $2,000 bond in Canton. He broke away and was shot.

Junior High News

Winners have been named in the Junior High school soap carving contest which has been conducted under the direction of the teachers and Miss Joyce Alabach.

William Nyberg, 7B, carved a squirrel which was chosen best of the contest. Dick Crookston, 8D, took first place for eighth grade pupils while Nancy Heidreich, 7E, won top honors and Elizabeth Day finished in second place among seventh grade pupils.

Other winners by grades include: Jim Duncan, sixth; Vivian Vincent, fourth; Linda Davis, third and Mickey Cope, second grade.

The eight winners each received theater passes as prizes.

PLEADS INNOCENT

CANTON, Nov. 21—Earl O. Blackledge, 55, charged with first degree murder in the hammer-slaying of George Neidig, 32, pleaded innocent yesterday. He was bound over to the Stark county grand jury. Neidig's weighted body was recovered from Seneca lake in Noble county Wednesday.

Fine Foods From A&P's Huge Array Help Make A

Happy Thanksgiving Day!

Customers' Corner

Will A&P be put out of business if the anti-trust lawyers win their suit against this company?

Absolutely! And here's why:

A&P's retail stores will be broken up into seven groups and sold to new owners.

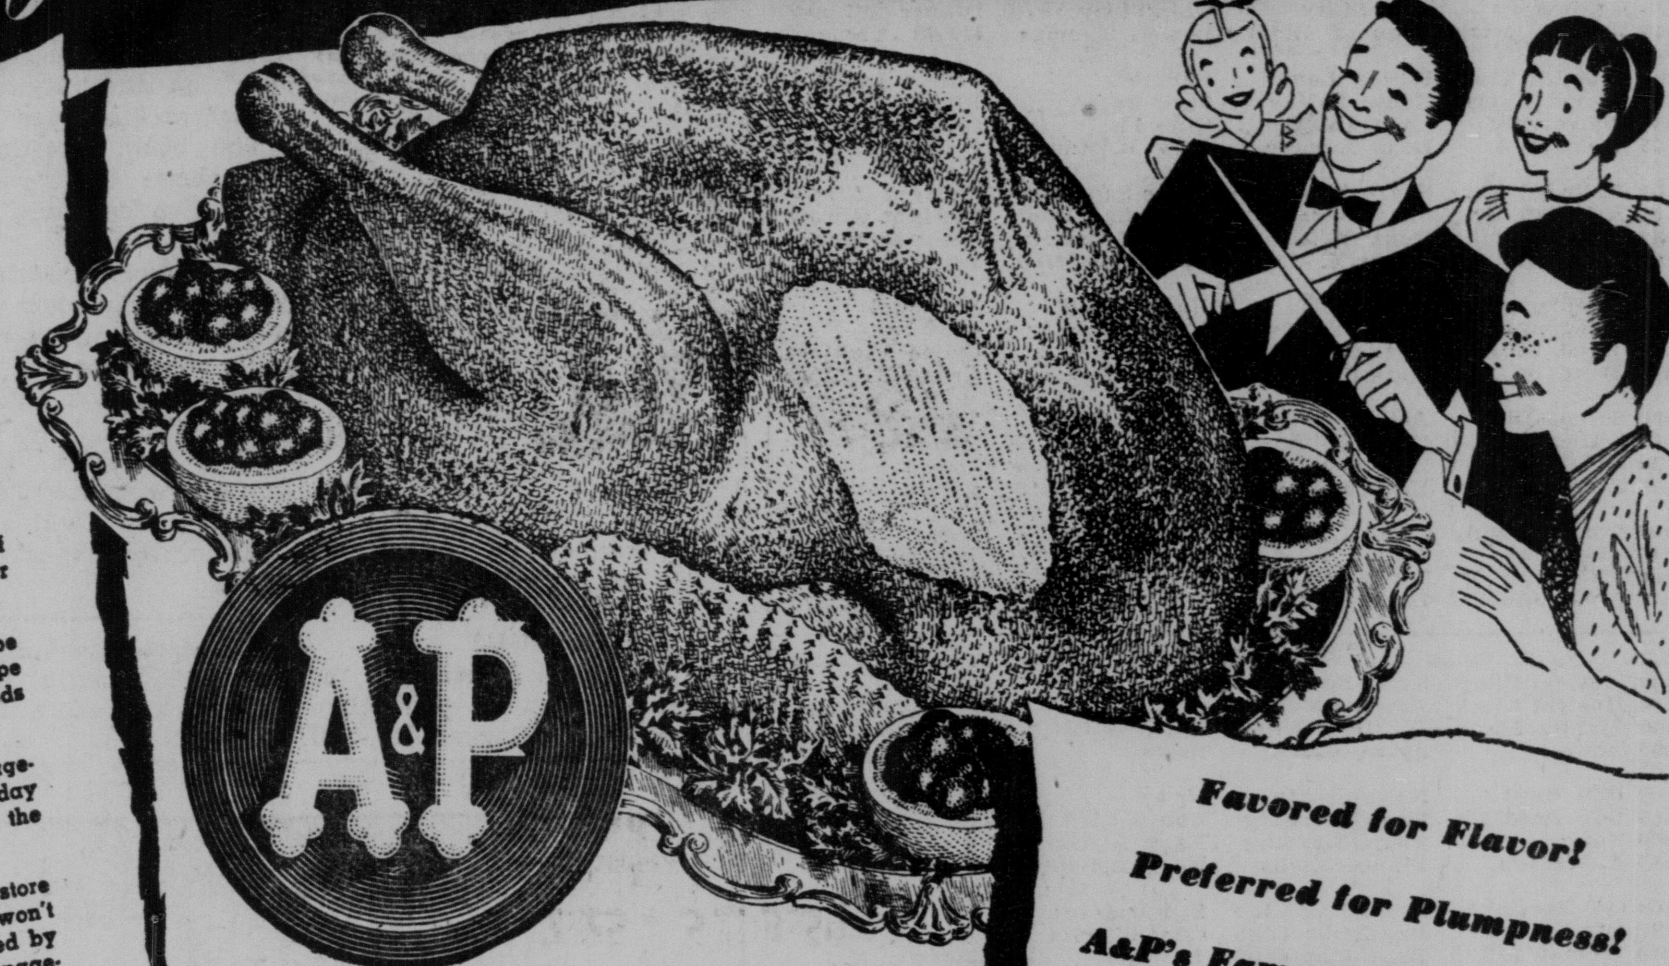

A&P's factories, which produce many of our fine foods, will be sold to still other new owners.

None of the stores and factories can be connected in any way, which will wipe out the savings you now enjoy on the foods A&P makes.

None of the present owners or management who have made A&P what it is today have anything to do with either the stores or the factories.

So, while there may be a food store where your A&P is now located, it won't be your A&P store. It will be operated by different owners and under new management.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit it will mean the end of A&P as you know it.
